

ASCE Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. In surveying, what is a benchmark?

- A) A point of known elevation used as a reference for leveling surveys
- B) A property corner monument
- C) A horizontal control point with known coordinates
- D) A temporary construction stake

2. In construction, what is a 'punch list'?

- A) A list of items to be corrected or completed before final acceptance
- B) A list of subcontractors on a project
- C) A list of materials to be procured
- D) A list of pending change orders

3. What does a total station instrument measure?

- A) Horizontal angles, vertical angles, and slope distances simultaneously
- B) Only horizontal distances
- C) Only vertical elevations
- D) Only GPS coordinates

4. In a topographic survey, what are contour lines?

- A) Lines connecting points of equal elevation on a map
- B) Lines showing property boundaries
- C) Lines indicating drainage flow directions
- D) Lines marking soil type boundaries

Answers: 1-A 2-A 3-A 4-A

For More ASCE Questions and Answers FREE, ASCE Online Prep Training,
ASCE Exam, ASCE Study Guide, ASCE Flashcards, ASCE Quizzes visit:

ASCE Practice Test