

CHAP Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. What does CHAP typically stand for in healthcare accreditation?

- A) Community Health Accreditation Program
- B) Certified Healthcare Administration Professional
- C) Clinical Healthcare Assessment Protocol
- D) Central Health Advisory Panel

2. What type of organizations does CHAP typically accredit?

- A) Hospitals only
- B) Home health and community-based care providers
- C) Pharmaceutical companies
- D) Medical device manufacturers

3. What is the primary purpose of CHAP accreditation?

- A) Increase healthcare costs
- B) Ensure quality and safety standards in healthcare
- C) Limit patient access to care
- D) Reduce healthcare competition

4. How often do CHAP-accredited organizations typically undergo review?

- A) Monthly
- B) Every 3 years with periodic reviews
- C) Every 10 years
- D) Only when problems are reported

Answers: 1-A 2-B 3-B 4-B

For More CHAP Questions and Answers FREE, CHAP Online Prep Training, CHAP Exam, CHAP Study Guide, CHAP Flashcards, CHAP Quizzes visit:

CHAP Practice Test