

CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. A therapist may withhold a client's records if:

- A) The client has an outstanding balance for services
- B) Disclosure would cause substantial harm to the client or others, as documented
- C) The therapist determines the client does not need the records
- D) The records are more than 5 years old

2. Which of the following are true about boundaries?

- A) A boundary is a behavioral framework within which you must function in order to perform your role.
- B) Boundaries can be legal, ethical, moral or professional.
- C) Boundaries are 100% the responsibility of the staff person to maintain in the relationship between staff and client.
- D) All of the above

3. A patient waives the psychotherapist-patient privilege when they:

- A) Ask the therapist for a copy of their records
- B) Place their mental condition at issue in a legal proceeding
- C) Miss multiple scheduled appointments
- D) Request a change in treatment modality

4. Informed consent for therapy in California must be documented by:

- A) Verbal agreement recorded in session notes only
- B) Written consent, with the signed form kept in the client's file
- C) A witness signature on the consent form
- D) Notarization of the consent document

Answers: 1-B 2-D 3-B 4-B

For More CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Questions and Answers FREE, CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Online Prep Training, CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Exam, CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Study Guide, CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Flashcards, CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Quizzes visit:

CLEE - California Law and Ethics Exam Practice Test