

English Language and Composition Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. Which rhetorical appeal primarily relies on credibility and trustworthiness of the speaker?

- A) Ethos
- B) Pathos
- C) Logos
- D) Kairos

2. In argumentative writing, what is the primary purpose of addressing counterarguments?

- A) To confuse the reader
- B) To strengthen your position by acknowledging and refuting opposing views
- C) To make the essay longer
- D) To show that you cannot defend your thesis

3. Which sentence structure technique involves placing the main clause at the end for emphasis?

- A) Periodic sentence
- B) Cumulative sentence
- C) Compound sentence
- D) Simple sentence

4. What is the primary function of transitions in essay writing?

- A) To meet minimum word count requirements
- B) To create logical connections between ideas and paragraphs
- C) To impress readers with vocabulary
- D) To replace the need for supporting evidence

Answers: 1-A 2-B 3-A 4-B

For More English Language and Composition Questions and Answers FREE, English Language and Composition Online Prep Training, English Language and Composition Exam, English Language and Composition Study Guide, English Language and Composition Flashcards, English Language and Composition Quizzes visit: