

NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Practice Test Questions and Answers

1. What type of virus is FIP?

- A) Pestivirus
- B) Herpesvirus
- C) Coronavirus
- D) Adenovirus

2. How would you handle FIP with ocular involvement?

- A) Glycopyrrolate
- B) Topical pilocarpine
- C) Topical antibiotics (2' bacterial infections)
- D) Topical steroids and atropine

3. In llamas, the most typical source of bony facial tumors is

- A) Tooth root abscess
- B) Facial bone fracture
- C) Osteomyelitis
- D) Ossifying fibroma

4. The following types of inflammation are typically linked to FIP:

- A) Purulent
- B) No inflammation associated
- C) Serous
- D) Pyogranulomatous

Answers: 1-C 2-D 3-A 4-D

For More NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Questions and Answers FREE, NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Online Prep Training, NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Exam, NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Study Guide, NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Flashcards, NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Quizzes visit:

NAVLE - North American Veterinary Licensing Examination Practice Test